Atlanta based SMB Technology Solutions, LLC Achieves Minority Business Enterprise Certification

SMB Technology Solutions LLC, an Information Technology business specializing in Server and Desktop Virtualization, Cloud Computing, Green I.T solutions, and Hardware Procurement has received official designation as a certified Minority Owned Business (MBE) by the Georgia Minority Supplier Development Council (GMSDC). SMB Technology Solutions has strategic partnerships with companies such as VMware, Microsoft, Dell and HP and IBM.

Online PR News - 29-June-2010 - The certification was recently awarded by the Georgia Minority Supplier Development Council (GMSDC), a non-profit organization which fosters the development and expansion of mutually beneficial economic opportunities between certified minority business enterprises (MBEs), corporations, and government entities within the state of Georgia.

The certification acknowledges that SMB Technology Solutions, LLC qualifies as a minority-owned and operated company which has met the criteria established by the National Minority Supplier Development Council (NMSDC).

To be eligible for certification as an MBE company, a business must be at least 51% owned and controlled by one or more socially and economically disadvantaged individuals.

"We believe that the MBE designation will open some great doors to new opportunities that can positively impact our growth", said Christopher Buford, President of SMB Technology Solutions, LLC. "We view this as both an opportunity and responsibility to demonstrate, we can provide the same professional service as the larger I.T. firms, but at a fraction of the cost, and with the personal attention of a small business".

"We are excited about the authorization of our MBE certification by the GMSDC," said Alonzo James III, CEO. "The certification process was very comprehensive and we are excited and pleased to be affiliated with such a great business development organization as GMSDC. We believe the strategic business connections provided by the GMSDC will really allow us to grow our business and are really looking forward to these opportunities."
